braun coffee maker user manual

If you're lucky enough to have one, it's important that you understand how to use it, how to clean it and how to keep your household safe. The best care brings you the best cup of coffee in the morning. Braun coffee maker reviews are usually very good, but it's good to consider customer feedback before making a purchase. They range from small two to four cup brews to a master 12 cup carafe, so there's certainly a model that will suit your needs and your coffee addiction. There are also a variety of options you can review to suit your lifestyle. This is ideal if you're one of those individuals who wakes up groggy and wants to get to the coffee pot right away. Here's how you can make the perfect cup. Be sure the filter is the correct size for the filter basket. Using the wrong sized filter can lead to coffee grounds in your coffee. You can set the coffee machine to start brewing at your desired time so that by the time you reach it, your coffee is warm and ready. Here's how to set the Auto On with a Braun model coffee maker. Depending on the model, you may hear a beep, and you'll see the hours on your display start to flash. The control panel will start flashing. Use the Set button to scroll through the numbers, and release all buttons once set. The minutes on the display will start to flash. The coffee pot should have all parts in brewing position. It's recommended to clean your Braun coffee maker at least once a month to ensure great taste without any concerns from buildup or mold. In addition, be sure to clean it when your Braun coffee maker clean light is blinking. This makes a mildly acidic formula that's incredibly effective at removing scaleup from the walls and internals of the coffee maker, as well as disinfecting any areas at risk of mold or mildew. Braun offers a descaling product, if vinegar is ineffective. <http://www.consili.nl/userfiles/dualcom-gsm-manual.xml>

A good starting point is 2 tablespoons of white vinegar in 4 cups of water, but if the pot is especially dirty, you can run pure vinegar through it; you'll just have to be sure to do a bunch of water rinses afterward to ensure the taste doesn't transfer into the coffee. Pour your solution into the water carafe, and run the coffee pot with no filter and no grounds. Leave the coffee pot on the heat for 20 to 30 minutes, then turn the coffee maker off and allow it to cool. Run the brewing cycle with clean water at least three times, waiting for the pot to cool in between each time. Check to see whether the parts of your Braun coffee maker are dishwasher safe. Coffee makers without an automatic shutoff run the risk of burning the coffee down to sludge, which could smoke or smolder and might possibly catch fire if left too long. Luckily, many modern coffee makers come with an automatic shutoff built in, so check your Braun model to see whether this is a concern for your kitchen or not. There's also the risk of broken glass if the carafe is dropped. These can lead to anything from a general malaise to real gastrointestinal sickness. By cleaning on a regular basis and ensuring proper operation, your Braun coffee maker should continue making delicious coffee every morning with no concerns. Please follow these instructions for cleaning your unit. Remove the charcoal water filter holder including the charcoal water filter and the gold tone permanent filter. Add 100 ml 3.2 oz of descaling solution to a full carafe of water. <http://bannermaul.com/userData/board/dualco-grease-gun-manual.xml>

Pour the water and cleaner into the water reservoir of the machine and place the empty carafe in its position. Press the CLEAN button. The green LED light above the button will start flashing. Press BREW to start the descaling program, while the green LED light is still flashing. Once the descaling process has started, it is not possible to stop the program until finished. When the descaling program has been completed, the green LED light will turn off. Discard the cleaning solution and rinse the carafe thoroughly with clean water. Fill the water reservoir with a full carafe of clean, fresh water. Run the coffee maker through two complete brew cycles to flush the unit after descaling. Use a full carafe of fresh cold water each time. Our payment security system encrypts your information during transmission. IndyGuy64 3.0 out of 5 stars Braun made very good machines years ago, my favorite until no longer made for the US market. Now that Braun is back in the US, I was happy to buy this sleek, modern machine to replace our Waring Pro that recently failed. The Braun is easy to set up, looks great, and is ultramodern. Unfortunately, it does not make great coffee that has rich, deep flavor. I believe it's shortcomings lie in Braun's desire to satisfy the market expectations of fast brew time, little to no loss of steam, and very little noise. Firstly, it brews quite quickly, even on the "bold" setting, which does slows it down by several minutes. However, brewing too fast reduces residence time between the grounds and water, leading to a weak brew product. Secondly, the machine produces very little steam, which appears to be the result of a low brewing temperature. I measured the brewing temperature on several runs at a consistent 180 degrees F, much lower than the optimal range of 195 F to 205 F. This, again, results in a weak brew product. Thirdly, it produces very little noise, also a result of a too low brew temperature.

The top of the machine opens to reveal the grounds basket cone and the water inlet. Not a great design having both so close together, but not a deal breaker. What is concerning, though, is the size of the grounds basket. It is much shorter than the one in my failed Waring Pro. Using the same amount of coffee as i had always used in my failed machine, the used grounds formed up to the top of the basket, nearly overflowing. Adjusting to a coarser grind did not solve this issue. I could not test using more coffee to get a stronger brew because doing so will result in an overflow of the basket, either into the carafe or into the water inlet. The "bold" setting seemed to have no perceptible effect on the richness and flavor of the brew produced by the Braun, despite a slightly longer brew cycle. A great looking machine, but for the price should be able to make a great pot of coffee. I ultimately landed on this coffee maker. I wanted something that looked sleek and modern, something that didn't take up too much counter space. I was coming from a Krups Cafe Duomo II; never used the espresso side of it so I couldn't comment on that, but after a year of use it was handing me down that was never used, so it was like new condition, I realized other coffee makers made hotter coffee. My parents who gave it to me initially have a Keurig, which I liked because we only really use one serving of coffee usually, but I hated how they looked. Kitchenaid made a nice looking personal size coffee maker but the thing was darn tall. Their drip coffee makers looked pretty awesome too, but reviews were lukewarm no pun intended. Reviews about coffee quality seem to be above par, it took up a lot less space not as tall as the Kitchenaid variants as well, had that stainless look I wanted, but not too much where it looked cheap like the cheaper coffee makers that just looked gimmicky. So I went with this one and don't regret it.

The coffee comes out piping hot, the warm plate seems to keep it fairly warm has multiple settings as well if you don't like it too hot, there's a cleaning reminder on it, bold and regular settings. The carafe doesn't seem to drip did one time because we poured way too fast, like dumping the coffee out, and antidrip system seems to work well too Krups would leak when it would stop mid flow. You can purchase a thermo carafe if you choose so from Braun as well if you wanted that. I love how there is no steam that comes out from this unit like cheaper units and my previous Krups did. You don't see condensation on top. They made it form instead and drip back into the water well, so you can turn it on and push it back under the cabinets without worrying about moisture getting on your wooden cabinets. The water well is a little smaller, but we haven't had issues; we pour from the mug to measure how much coffee we make. This coffee maker truly does make an excellent cup of joe. Tasty with no bitter aftertaste no matter what the brand of coffee. I'm thinking the water filter has something to do with that. I have hard water where I live, and the filter does an excellent job of filtering out the impurities. The coffee pot NEVER leaks whether that's filling up the water reservoir or pouring the first cup of coffee. Plus you can take the coffee pot out while brewing and it doesn't leak on to the heating element either. And it has a 1-4 cup brewing feature for those of you who are fortunate enough to just need that many cups I, for one, am not that fortunate full pot each morning for me! Definitely worth the 5 star rating. You won't regret purchasing this machine! Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again I did my research for weeks before I bought it and it didn't disappoint. It is not as tall as other machines so no worries about it fitting under the cupboards. Extremely easy to use and the best feature is that it keeps the coffee hot for up to 5 hours.

You can change the temperature from Low, medium or high. I love my coffee hot, and that's just how I get it. Would not hesitate to buy this brewer. It is just fantastic! Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again I bought a Cuisinart and it leaked and you couldn't pour all the water in the spout area. I also had a Hamilton Beach that was the worst coffee maker I've ever had honestly there was no way to put the water in without spilling it. Poor product design for both those brands. However, I had had a Braun coffee maker that lasted 15 years and I am still using the Braun coffee grinder! So I was thrilled and I mean thrilled to find they were available in Canada again. It is a perfect coffee maker no spills automatic and program and a Clean function for when you need to descale the coffee maker. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again We never loved it. The coffee wasn't hot, and the carafe was prone to spilling. Like many people, we cleaned it regularly with vinegar, which factually removes calcium, the main longterm problem with coffee makers. After a year, it was extremely slow to brew, taking over half an hour. We called Braun, who said vinegar isn't suitable. The manual is facetious on this topic, saying the unit isn't plugged in it is. It seems like ultimately Braun has made a unit that doesn't last well. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again My rating might be different after a year but I was asked to rate it now. I love this machine. I think so far, its the best coffee maker Ive ever bought. The only thing you have to watch for, or be careful of, is ensuring the lid for the coffee pot is secure and in the right position. If it isnt, coffee will build up in the coffee filter without emptying into the pot. This could cause an overflow and a big mess to clean up. So if you start brewing and dont see the coffee dripping into the pot, check that the coffee pot lid is in the right position.

Other than that, I am very satisfied with this machine. And I LOVE my coffee!!Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again I use it everyday. Only issue I have is that the coffee that drips isnt hot enough for my preference. I remedy this by setting the heat plate on high and let the coffee heat up more after its done brewing. Everything else I enjoy the unit very much, the coffee it makes is delicious. I really like how the water tank is almost bone dry after its done brewing.Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again I replaced that with a cheap nonprogrammable machine which I hated, and I ended up settling on this machine. The coffee tastes great from this machine. I love the mesh filter, I dont have to buy coffee filters how wasteful.It is super easy to program this machine and wake up to fresh coffee. Highly recommend.Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again Have to use a flashlight or strictly use the carafe for measuring.But I would not order this unit again.Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again They're the best coffee makers I could find. Easy to clean, cone filters make the best coffee. Easy to program for hot coffee morning ready.Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again I recommend it. It works exactly as you would expect a coffee maker to work. The one thing I do not like is there is no outside indicator of how much water is in the coffee maker. You have to open the top and peer inside. That is fine except it is difficult to see how much there is. Of course, I use the coffee pot now to measure but before I could just run water directly from my extended tap. a first world problem I know Overall, its a good coffee pot. The reason I gave it 4 stars instead of 5 is because it is difficult to see the water level.Sorry, we failed to record your vote.

Please try again After using my unit and following the instructions to a tee, an error 02 message appeared which meant it was not troubleshootable and needed to return to the manufacturer. Amazon quickly processed my exchange, very easy to do that's a plus. So excited to open the box and use it again. When I tried to set up the auto brew setting, the button controlling the minutes is completely broken. So I can only make my coffee on the hour. Kind of sad about that, I will definitely be returning and looking for a new unit. Disappointed that 2 machines are defective. Now back to the hunt for a new coffeemakerSorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again Its super easy to set up and use, the carafe doesnt spill, and most importantly the coffee tastes just as good. Im happy we did our research and paid extra for this one that had consistently good reviews. Its worth it! Some reviewers have commented on not really liking the look but who needs a fancylooking coffeemaker if it functions perfectlySorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again OK here is the correction No it does not leak, I was use to my other Braun which took more overly pore so I adjusted that and now it good. It does a good job and coffee is what beans or already grinded you buy for taste.Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again This thing isn't overly fancy, but looks great makes good coffee and pours well something my previous maer couldn't accomplish without dripping all over the place. Kind of annoying to have to clean the filter out every day, but we're out here saving the planet and it's not always easy, am I rightSorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again I dont know how long this one will last, having just bought it, but it certainly works a lot better, and looks better too. Turns out coffee quickly, doesnt drip, and the pot doesnt drip onto the countertop either while pouring, something that eluded Cuisinart. Very pleased with my purchase!
